

BPD radKIDS Week

The Burlington Police Department will once again be offering the radKIDS program this summer to Burlington children ages 8-12. The kids will be in a fun and very active program that stresses safety awareness through role-play, self-defense and other activities.

The Burlington Police will incorporate risk awareness skills (strangers, public safety, etc.) with radKIDS, a program that offers defense against abduction. The radKIDS portion of the class is a 15 hour class to be integrated with safety awareness teachings.

Classes will be free for all attending residents. Donations to Burlington DARE are appreciated. As per the radKIDS organization, each child thereafter will be able to re-attend the class on an unlimited basis for free.

The course will be held at the Marshall Simonds Middle School gymnasium Mon. – Fri. (9am-12noon) July 17-21 or July 24-28, 2023. Full time Burlington Police officers will teach the class.

Registration forms can be picked up at the police station lobby or printed out here; bpd.org/974/School-Resources. They must be dropped off at the Police Station. Limited space available! Questions? Contact SRO Vito Costa at 781-505-4981 or vcosta@bpd.org.
